Sarah Williams

I am an experienced museum professional with a strong foundation in exhibit design and collection management. My work includes developing and interpreting innovation exhibits that can engage and connect with diverse audiences. With nearly seven years of experience working with a variety of museums and cultural institutions, I bring a high level of insight, planning, and creativity to all projects. Additionally, I have extensive training in collection management, including accessioning, cataloging, and creating and implementing collection policies, plans, and procedures.
